LONDON, Dec. 1, 1866.

It is reported on good authority that Mr. Bigelow, the United States Minister at Paris, recently read to Napoleon, in person, a very grave and decided despatch from Secretary Saward.

This despatch, so the report goes, implicitly required France to fulfil the engagements she had entered into with regard to the Mexican question.

The Emperor, however, made no reply.

his present engagement last evening, in the role of Richard III. The wicked and perildious King is not certainly one of Mr. Dillion's best characters, the peculiar duality of his dramatic powers being more observable in this than in almost any other of his tengte characters. Some parts were given in a style worthy of this genleman's reputation, but others were rendered in a somewhat slovenly style. The reading was not in all cases correct, but was marred by several unpleasant and grating mispronunciations. Mr. Dillion was well supported by the Broadway company. Mr. J. W. Lanergan displayed some excellent setting in the character of Buckingham, Mr. Nagle was good as the Earl of Richmond, and Mr. Jack rendered Henry the VI. with more than usual ability. Miss Cella Logan and Miss Gray were also very good in their respective parts of Lady Anne and Queen Elizabeth. At the fail of the curtain Mr. Dillon was most vociferously called before the curtain. After about ten minutes had been passed in acclamation, he appeared before the curtain, and, in a few words, thanked the people of New York for the support and patronage which they had accorded him during his engagement. The comedictus of the Maid With the Milking Pail brought the entertainment to a close, with Miss Kate Respondss as the Mikmaid. This charming comedienne makes the most of this somewhat simple part, introducing in the ourse of its rendition a very pretty little milking sons. Her acting was so good as to carry with her the appreciation of a rather tirred audience, who respectedly appisseded her during the progress of the piece.

at Steinway Hall last evening under the direction of Mr. R. Gonzales. Madame De Lussan, Miss C. A. Phillips, and a number of other vocalists assisted. Mrs. Gonzales opened the concert with the overture to Maritans on the organ. Considering that the instrument was in an uninished state the overture was not a flattering success. The first part of the programme consisted of sacred pieces, such as selections from Nint's Yespers and the works of Mandanic and Guiglienni. In their midst, however, there was a very irreligious piano solo, namely, Liszi's Rigoletto. The recond part was called secular and comprised some excellent pieces. Madame De Lussan and Mr. Gonzalez were the principal singers. If we judge from the overwhelming oothusissm of the large sudience, the balles and gentlemen who assisted in the concert were very successful. To judge from a higher standpoint there were still many good points in the music of last night's concert. The concert will probably be repeated at an oarly date.

Matinee Performance

ment, yesterday afternoon, was as complete a success as the management could well desire. A large and farhionable assemblage welcomed Mile. Naddie, Muse. Daire and Mile. Anhelme, Vert and Chol. The marked favor with which La Filis du Régiment has been received in Brooklyn and in this city proves that the public only require a more thorough acquaintance with the light and sparking mosts of french composers. Donlateti's melodies are familiar to all, and the knowledge of the score possessed by the patrons of the French theatre is an incentive to their attendance. When the Crown Diamonds, Les Mosspectares and a host of other works will become known, the popularity of typera Geosgue will be increased one hundred fold, and the coay auditorium will scarce be spacious enough to accommodate the audience. Yesteriny applause was renerously bestowed, M. Anthelme and Mile. Naddie being particularly favored. The music of Le Filis dis Régiment is, however, rather trying to the voices of the singers, who are accustomed to rendering less weighty productions. Zesapo and The Bunghter of the Regiment are, in a measure, grand operus, and therefore somewhat overtax the artistes, Mrs. Daire, also appeared as the Marchienes, and MM. Vert and Chol acquitted themselves satisfactority.

Mr. Hartz's Entertalanuent.

This gentieman, who has been astonishing New York during the last few months, closed the first series of his autorizationents last night. Of conjurous, illusionists, magicians, wisseds and other deer of the proteinigifaters genus who have ever visited this city the cognorcers agree that Mr. Hartz surpasses all in neatness and precision. Among his tricks are many which have never been attempted by any one else, and one and all possess that great advantage that he does not make use of any complicated apparatus for their performance. The eard tricks are entirely novel, and excite at once marvel and laughter. It is truly ridiculous to see each card as salled by Hartz, rise from the pact, which is pieced on a pedestal under a glast case, and adjust taself according to the will of the master. Another trick, which caused much merriment, was making all the watches beinging to the andience strike like repeaters; then again the famous indian basket trick; the growth of flower trees, which almost approaches the superinatural; the host household had been added to the content of the superintens of drinking vessels, thousands of playing cards, crinolines, eigers, Chinese lanterns, and a variety of articles too numerous to mention; and last, but not least, the new wonder of the day, the appartition of a human head, which floats in the air without body, supported only on a small valvet cushion; all these and many more strange illusions form the attractions which have secured to Mr. Hartz such crowded houses during his stay here, and have made his name. "familiar in our months as household words." It is evident from the constitual production of fresh wenders than Mr. Hartz does not look upon his profession as a mere means of making money, but that it has become dear to him as an art, and that he makes it the study of his life. The human head vision, apparition, or whatever it ought to be termed, deserves special comment. Without seeing it, it cannot be imagined; for it floats in the air entirely free, without he imagined; for i any apparent possibility of its belonging to a living body, but this doubt is soon dispelled, as it emission from a peak, and performs strange feats of clairroy, and a li differ entirely from the soons what harkmayed Sphinx head, which was subblisted on a box which was on a table, which was early featlity for the conseal ment of the body. Mr. Harts is shout to leave New York, but will return in about a fortinght and renew his performances as Dodoroth Hali as heretofore.

Promenade Concert.

The third promenade concert arranged under the auspicas of the Thirty-seventh regiment, took place last night, at the Armory, corner of Breadway and Thirty-fifth accest. The concert proved a grand suchasse of the programme there were selections from the music of Mendelsmohn, Schubert, Demisetti and Pariow. In the second part there were selections from Petrolla, Carrella, Wrighton and Conterno. The word of the regulated for the contest performed the show, rendering them with excellent effect. The entertainment cloud with dancing in the following order:—Quadrilla, redown, income and a polica and galop. Signer I. irand Rally of the Friends of Richard B Connolly at the Cooper Institute—Hearty Endorsement of the Claims of the Regular Democratic Nomince—Speeches by Sheriff Kelly, James T. Brady, A. Oakey Hall, Mayor Hoffman and Others.

A grand mass meeting of the friends and constituents of Richard B. Connolly, the regular democratic nomince for the other of Computation of the city of New York.

for the office of Compredier of the city of New York, was held last evening at Cooper Institute. Previous to the organization of the meeting a display of fireworks took place in front of the building, and a leand discoursed

Gentlemen, it appears to me that notwithstanding the importance of this election, there is a general apathy manifested by the people of this city in regard to it. Perhaps it is in consequence of the recent election that has just passed, and the great importance attached to that election, but whatever it may be there certainly is great apathy in this city at the present time. Now, gentlemen, I feel that there is no election more important to the public than that of Comptroller of New York city. He is the most important officer of the city, he is your disbursing officer. It is true there is but a single officer to be elected, and perhaps on that account they do not think there is much importance to be attached to it. But if the democrate do not come out in their strength, Richard Kelly will be next Comptroller of the city of New York. Now, let me ask, as democrate are you willing to throw your office away for the purpose of letting these gentlemen put in their cyandidate? Two or three candidates are now in the field for the office of Comptroller, and among these Richard Kelly. Now, what can induce him to run in this election? Of course any one than so right to run for that office. The office of Comptroller has but $3,500 as salary in view; is there any one than the resolutions. (Cheera for Kelly and Richard B, Connolly.)

Mr. Price then stepped forward and read the resolutions.

debt accumulate? I do not mean to say that there is no corruption in some of the city departments. I know of mean up for office in this city to day who should never have been nominated, and I say to you vote these men down. Our debt is about $41,900,000; of this there is about $20,000,000 for the Croton Aqueduct and the Central Park and $14,000,000, during the war, for war purposes been any one compains of the debt for carrying on the war? These barres give you $34,900,000 out of the $41,900,000, and the remainder has been applied to building markets, fire lademnities. Act. The office of Mayor of New York is of comparatively little importance. He can nominate a man for office, but he Common Council can pake that resolution over his voto. The care election proved beyond a doubt what a votoe the city of New York has in the elections of the State, and in that election we, as a party, were enabled to carry a majority in this county of 50,000 votes. It is not necessary that we should allow a ratical Governor to desprive us of offices as he may do, as if as a party we are not still hand in hand. We have now three candidates for the office of Comptroller, and is one of them my respected friend, Judge Kelly, I must say that he is well enough where he is. THE TRISSIE AND ITS CANDIDATES FOR COMPYRELLER

Richard Kelly's Record A Carlous December.

[From the Tribuns, Feb. 24, 1865]

We have in this city eight politic justicles, elected two years ago for six years each, and drawing miarres of $5,000 per annum under the terms of their election. That this is ample for the best of these officials we are free to affirm.

" But our present purpose is not to assail the whole system of our police judiciary, which we hope to see thoroughly abolished and reconstructed under the new constitution, but to call attention to one legislative error in connection therewith—or, rather, an outrage perpetrated by two of these police justices should not allow to pass unrepealed. We refet to the bull creating two of these police justices justice of the Special Sessions in permanence, instead of allowing that tribunal to be held, as previously, by the whole eight in rotation.

This bill has concentrated into the hand of the less.
